INTRODUCTION

Purpose

This guide lists the Canadian directory holdings of the National Library of Canada and the library of the National Archives of Canada. Included are approximately 1200 bibliographical entries for directories published in the years 1790 to 1987 for Canadian cities, towns, townships, counties, districts, regions and provinces. These directories contain any or all of the following sections: an alphabetically arranged list of the inhabitants of a place, an alphabetically arranged directory of the streets in a city, listing inhabitants at their addresses, a classified directory of businesses and professions or a numerically arranged list of telephone numbers. They are generally published on an annual basis or at some other regular interval. Directories in hard copy and microform formats have been included.

Directories for specific professions and ethnic groups, such as The Directory of Accountants in Alberta or The Chinese Directory of Toronto, and telephone directories published by telephone companies have not been included.

Many directories include listings of the inhabitants of more than one place, a fact of which many directory users are unaware. Therefore, an index of the populated places of Canada, which are listed in the directories, has been provided. A volume by volume analysis of the directories in the collections of the National Library of Canada and of the library of the National Archives of Canada resulted in an index of approximately 21 500 entries. An entry is provided for each city, town, township, county, district or province for which a directory has been published. Any place which appears as a section within a directory, listing any number of its inhabitants, is included. Also, places noted on the title pages or in the prefatory material of the directories have been given index entries.

A number of directories were too fragile to index and others such as the series Bottin de références croisées du grand Montréal, published by Publications Cole, arrived at the National Library of Canada too late for inclusion in the index. However, entries have been provided in the bibliography.

The Canadian Institute for Historical Microreproductions (CIHM) is in the process of reproducing on microfiche pre-1900 Canadian directories held by a number of Canadian institutions. The National Library of Canada and the library of the National Archives of Canada possess the CIHM microfiche collection.

INTRODUCTION

But

Ce guide présente le fonds d'annuaires canadiens de la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada et de la bibliothèque des Archives nationales du Canada. Il comporte environ 1200 notices bibliographiques concernant des annuaires de villes, de cantons, de comtés, de districts, de régions et de provinces du Canada, publiés de 1790 à 1987. Ces annuaires comportent au moins quelques-unes ou toutes les sections suivantes: une liste alphabétique des habitants et leur adresse, un répertoire systématique des entreprises et des professions ou une liste de numéros de téléphone disposés par ordre numérique. Ces annuaires sont également publiés chaque année ou à d'autres intervalles réguliers. Les annuaires sur support papier et sur microforme sont inclus dans le guide.

Les annuaires de professions et de groupes ethniques déterminés, comme The Directory of Accountants in Alberta ou The Chinese Directory of Toronto, de même que les annuaires téléphoniques publiés par les compagnies de téléphone ne se trouvent pas dans ce guide.

De nombreux annuaires renferment la liste des habitants de plus d'un lieu, ce que bien des utilisateurs ne savent pas. On a donc constitué un index des endroits peuplés du Canada qui se trouvent dans les annuaires.

L'analyse volume par volume des annuaires réunis dans les collections de la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada et de la bibliothèque des Archives nationales du Canada a donné un index d'environ 21 500 points d'accès. Nous avons attribué un point d'accès à chaque ville, canton, comté, district ou province pour lesquels un annuaire a été publié. L'index inclut tout lieu qui forme une section d'un annuaire et énumère un nombre quelconque de ses habitants. On a aussi constitué des points d'accès pour les lieux inscrits sur les pages de titre et dans les documents préliminaires des annuaires.

Certains annuaires étaient trop fragiles pour qu'on puisse les indexer et d'autres, comme la collection Bottin de références croisées du grand Montréal, publiée par Publications Cole, sont parvenus trop tard à la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada pour être inclus dans l'index. Toutefois, on a inséré des notices dans la bibliographie.

L'Institut canadien de microreproductions historiques (ICMH) est en train de reproduire sur microfiches les annuaires canadiens d'avant 1900 que possèdent certains établissements canadiens. La Bibliothèque nationale du Canada et la bibliothèque des Archives nationales du Canada possèdent la collection sur microfiches de l'ICMH. On a inclus dans la bibliographie des notices concernant la plupart

Entries have been included in the bibliography for most of the directories which CIHM has selected and filmed or intends to have filmed by the end of the autumn of 1988. Entries are not always complete and approximately one hundred of these volumes have not been indexed because the microfiche is not available at the present time.

The National Library of Canada and the library of the National Archives of Canada hold large and excellent collections of Canadian directories. It is hoped that this bibliography and index will facilitate access to the contents of Canadian directories, by users of the collections of the National Library of Canada, the library of the National Archives of Canada and other Canadian institutions.

Arrangement

The bibliography that composes volume one of this publication is alphabetically arranged by province or territory, with the exception of the Province of Canada, Canada as a nation, and the Atlantic Provinces as a region, which appear first and in that order. Within each province or territory, the provincial or territorial directories are listed first, chronologically arranged. These are followed by the cities, townships, counties and districts, alphabetically arranged in one sequence. Within each city, township, county or district, the directories are chronologically arranged.

In the larger cities two directories were sometimes published for the same year. One of these directories will have been moved out of chronological order if it interrupts the sequence of the main series of directories for that city. An example of this type of rearrangement appears in the list of Montréal directories.

When a directory includes more than one place, it is listed in the bibliography under the place which is named first in the directory title. For example, Vernon's City of Welland, Town of Port Colborne and Village of Humberstone (Ontario) ... Directory is listed under the city of Welland in the province of Ontario. One exception to this rule is made in the case of the complex series of Ontario county directories, published by the Union Publishing Company. For these series, the headings as worked out by Dorothy E. Ryder for the Checklist of Canadian Directories 1790-1950, have been used. These directories are not always listed under the county which appears first in their titles.

des annuaires que l'ICMH a choisis et filmés ou qu'il prévoit de filmer d'ici à la fin de l'automne 1988. Les notices ne sont pas toujours complètes, et une centaine de ces volumes n'ont pas été indexés parce que les microfiches ne sont pas disponibles pour l'instant.

La Bibliothèque nationale du Canada et la bibliothèque des Archives nationales du Canada possèdent une importante et excellente collection d'annuaires canadiens. Nous espérons que cette bibliographie et cet index permettront aux utilisateurs des collections de la Bibliothèque nationale, de la bibliothèque des Archives nationales du Canada et d'autres établissements canadiens d'accéder plus facilement au contenu des annuaires canadiens.

Classement

La bibliographie qui occupe le premier volume du présent ouvrage est classée par ordre alphabétique par province ou territoire, à l'exception de la Province du Canada, du Canada en tant que pays, et des Provinces de l'Atlantique en tant que région, qui se trouvent au début, dans cet ordre. Au sein de chaque province ou territoire viennent d'abord les annuaires des provinces ou territoires, disposés chronologiquement. Ils sont suivis des villes, des cantons, des comtés et des districts classés ensemble par ordre alphabétique. Dans chaque ville, canton, comté ou district, les annuaires sont disposés par ordre chronologique.

Dans les grandes villes, il arrivait qu'on publie deux annuaires la même année. Un de ces annuaires a donc été retiré de l'ordre chronologique s'il interrompait la principale collection d'annuaires de cette ville. Un exemple de ce genre de reclassement apparaît dans la liste des annuaires de Montréal.

Quand un annuaire englobe plus d'un lieu, il est inscrit dans la bibliographie sous le nom du lieu qui apparaît dans le titre de l'annuaire. Par exemple Vernon's City of Welland, Town of Port Colborne and Village of Humberstone (Ontario) ... Directory est inscrit sous la ville de Welland dans la province de l'Ontario. Toutefois, les collections complexes d'annuaires des comtés de l'Ontario publiées par l'Union Publishing Company, font exception à cette règle. Pour ces collections, on a utilisé les vedettes élaborées par Dorothy E. Ryder pour le Répertoire des annuaires canadiens, 1790-1950. Ces annuaires ne sont pas toujours placés dans le comté qui apparaît le premier dans leur titre.

On ne trouve des notices bibliographiques distinctes pour les annuaires d'un même lieu que si l'éditeur change ou si les cinq premiers mots du titre de l'annuaire varient. En Separate bibliographical entries are provided for the directories of a place only when a change in publisher or a change in the first five words of a directory title occurs. As a result, a number of volumes are often listed under one entry.

The language of the bibliographical entries is based on the language of the documents for which the entries are created. When the directory is unilingual, the entry is unilingual. When the directory is bilingual, the entry is bilingual. Notes in all bibliographical entries are bilingual.

Like the bibliography, the place-name index is arranged alphabetically by province or territory. Within each of the provincial or territorial indexes, the entries for villages, towns, cities, townships, counties, districts and province or territory are arranged alphabetically, word by word, as in these examples:

Spring Lake, (Camrose)
Spring Point, (Macleod)
Springbank
Springdale, (Wetaskiwin)
Springridge, (Macleod)

Brome, (Brome)
Brome-Centre, (Brome)
Brome, Comté de
Brome-Corners, (Brome)
Brome-Ouest, (Brome)

Place names which begin with the articles La, Le, and Les or the preposition De, followed by a space, are alphabetized as though the spaces were absent, as for example:

La Tourelle, (Gatineau)
Latour's-Mills, (Pontiac)
La Trappe, (Deux-Montagnes)
Latulipe, (Pontiac)

However, place names which begin with the article The are alphabetized as follows:

Thanet
The Flats, (Hastings)
The Gore, (Middlesex)
The Maples, (Dufferin)
Thedford, (Lambton)
Thessalon

conséquence, plusieurs volumes sont souvent classés sous une seule notice.

La langue des notices bibliographiques correspond à la langue des documents pour lesquels on établit des notices. Si l'annuaire est unilingue, la notice est unilingue; s'il est bilingue, la notice est bilingue. Les notes inscrites dans toutes les notices bibliographiques sont bilingues.

Comme la bibliographie, l'index des noms de lieux est disposé dans l'ordre alphabétique, par province ou territoire. Dans chaque index de province ou de territoire, les points d'accès des villages, villes, cantons, comtés, districts, provinces ou territoires sont disposés dans l'ordre alphabétique, mot par mot, comme l'illustrent les exemples suivants:

Spring Lake, (Camrose)
Spring Point, (Macleod)
Springbank
Springdale, (Wetaskiwin)
Springridge, (Macleod).

Brome, (Brome)
Brome-Centre, (Brome)
Brome, Comté de
Brome-Corners, (Brome)
Brome-Ouest, (Brome).

Les noms de lieux qui commencent par les articles La, Le, Les ou par la préposition De, suivis d'un espace, sont classés comme si l'espace n'existait pas. Citons par exemple:

La Tourelle, (Gatineau)
Latour's-Mills, (Pontiac)
La Trappe, (Deux-Montagnes)
Latulipe, (Pontiac).

Mais les noms de lieux commençant par l'article The sont classés comme suit:

Thanet
The Flats, (Hastings)
The Gore, (Middlesex)
The Maples, (Dufferin)
Thedford, (Lambton)
Thessalon.

Place names which begin with L', D', or O' or which end with 's, are alphabetized as though the apostrophes were absent, as for example:

Danford-Lake, (Pontiac)
Danville, (Richmond)
D'Argenson, (Laval)
D'Artagnan, (Lévis)
D'Aubigny
Daveluyville, (Arthabaska)

Place names which are numbers are alphabetized as though the numbers were written out in words, as for example:

Omineca
187 Mile House, (Cariboo)
150 Mile House, (Cariboo)
O'Neill's Camp
Onward March

When a place name begins with St. or Ste., it is alphabetized as though the abbreviation was written out in full, as for example:

Sahtlam
St. Elmo, (Yale)
St. Eugene, (Cranbrook)
St. Eugene Mission, (Cranbrook)
Salmo

The names which appear in parentheses with a number of the place names are generally the names of counties or districts in which the place is located. They serve two purposes: to help the user distinguish between places with similar names or the same name, and to help users locate a place in, for example, a provincial directory which is also divided by county or district. These county identifiers are used with varying frequency depending upon the province and the manner in which counties or districts are used in its directories.

Places which have undergone changes in name are listed under the most current name of which the compiler is aware. This index is not intended to be a history of Canadian place names. However, name changes noted in the directories were verified where possible using the place-name histories and gazetteers listed in the bibliography at the end of this introduction. Gazetteers were also used to choose the correct spellings of place names from among the numerous variants found in the directories.

Les noms de lieux commençant par L', D', O' ou se terminant par 's sont classés comme s'il n'y avait pas d'apostrophe, comme par exemple:

Danford-Lake, (Pontiac)
Danville, (Richmond)
D'Argenson, (Laval)
D'Artagnan, (Lévis)
D'Aubigny
Daveluyville, (Arthabaska).

Les noms de lieux qui portent des numéros sont classés comme si les numéros étaient écrits en toutes lettres. On a donc:

Omineca
187 Mile House, (Cariboo)
150 Mile House, (Cariboo)
O'Neill's Camp
Onward March.

Si le nom de lieu commence par St. ou Ste., on le classe comme si l'abréviation était écrite en toutes lettres, comme par exemple:

Sahtlam
St. Elmo, (Yale)
St. Eugene, (Cranbrook)
St. Eugene Mission, (Cranbrook)
Salmo.

Les noms entre parenthèses qui accompagnent certains noms de lieux sont généralement des noms de comtés ou de districts où se trouvent ces lieux. Ces noms servent à deux fins: ils aident d'abord l'utilisateur à distinguer des lieux portant le même nom ou un nom similaire; ensuite ils l'aident à situer un lieu dans un annuaire provincial par exemple, divisé lui aussi en comtés ou districts. La fréquence de ces mentions de comtés varie selon la province et la manière dont on utilise les comtés ou les districts dans ces annuaires.

Les lieux dont le nom a subi des changements sont classés sous le nom le plus récent connu par le compilateur. Cet index ne se veut pas une histoire des noms de lieux du Canada. Toutefois, nous avons vérifié, dans la mesure du possible, les changements de noms indiqués dans les annuaires en utilisant les documents historiques et répertoires géographiques énumérés dans la bibliographie, à la fin de cette introduction. Nous avons aussi fait appel à des répertoires géographiques pour choisir la bonne orthographe des noms de lieux parmi les nombreuses variantes rencontrées dans les annuaires.

The details of the individual index and bibliographical entries and their interrelationship are best explained with examples. If, for example, the user is looking for directories for Thunder Bay, Ontario he or she would find the following entry in the Ontario index:

THUNDER BAY
see also/voir aussi Fort William West.
Ontario 1869, 1871 Add. [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William];
Ontario 1882 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William; Prince Arthur's Landing];
Ontario 1884/85, 1886/87, 1888/89, 1892/93, 1895, 1898/99, 1901/1902-1907/1908, 1910/11 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William; Port Arthur];
Manitoba 1884, 1886/87, 1887-1891, 1901, 1905-1908 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William; Port Arthur];
Manitoba 1892-1900, 1904 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William];
Canada 1890/91 [listed as/apparaît sous Port Arthur];
Canada 1896/97 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William; Port Arthur];
Durham County 1899, 1906/1907 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William; Port Arthur].

The first line of the entry is the place name. It is in capital letters, signifying that Thunder Bay has its own directories which are listed under THUNDER BAY in the ONTARIO section of the bibliography. Any place with any number of its own directories will be listed in capital letters in the index.

The second line of the entry, which is indented two spaces, provides a see also/voir aussi reference to related place names, if any, which have separate entries in the same provincial index. In this example a reference is given to Fort William West.

The next lines, which are indented four spaces, are directories in which Thunder Bay is listed. The directories are chronologically arranged by the first year listed for each series. This example is complicated by the presence of numerous notes indicating names under which Thunder Bay is listed in the directories.

The first line indicates that in the Ontario provincial directories for 1869 and 1871 Thunder Bay is listed as Fort William. Add. after the year 1871 signifies that Fort William is listed in an Addendum in that particular directory. Occasionally a year will appear as follows, 1872+Add., signifying that a place is listed in

Des exemples permettent de mieux expliquer les divers points d'accès de chaque index et des notices bibliographiques, ainsi que leurs rapports mutuels. Si par exemple, l'utilisateur cherche les annuaires de Thunder Bay en Ontario, il trouvera dans l'index de l'Ontario, le point d'accès suivant:

THUNDER BAY
see also/voir aussi Fort William West.
Ontario 1869, 1871 Add. [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William];
Ontario 1882 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William; Prince Arthur's Landing];
Ontario 1884/85, 1886/87, 1888/89, 1892/93, 1895, 1898/99, 1901/1902-1907/1908, 1910/11 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William; Port Arthur];
Manitoba 1884, 1886/87, 1887-1891, 1901, 1905-1908 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William; Port Arthur];
Manitoba 1892-1900, 1904 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William];
Canada 1890/91 [listed as/apparaît sous Port Arthur];
Canada 1896/97 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William; Port Arthur];
Durham County 1899, 1906/1907 [listed as/apparaît sous Fort William; Port Arthur].

Le nom du lieu constitue la première ligne du point d'accès. Il est écrit en majuscules, ce qui signifie que Thunder Bay possède ses propres annuaires inscrits sous THUNDER BAY dans la section ONTARIO de la bibliographie. Tout lieu ayant ses propres annuaires, quel qu'en soit le nombre, est inscrit en majuscules dans l'index.

La deuxième ligne de l'entrée, en retrait de deux espaces, contient un renvoi see also/voir aussi aux noms de lieux connexes, s'il y en a, qui font l'objet de points d'accès distincts dans le même index provincial. Dans cet exemple, on renvoie à Fort William West.

Les lignes qui suivent, en retrait de quatre espaces, présentent les annuaires où est inscrit Thunder Bay. Ces annuaires sont disposés chronologiquement d'après la première année inscrite pour chaque collection. L'exemple est compliqué par la présence de nombreuses notes indiquant les noms sous lesquels Thunder Bay est inscrit dans les annuaires. La première ligne indique que dans les annuaires provinciaux de l'Ontario de 1869 et 1871, Thunder Bay est inscrit sous le nom de Fort William.

L'abréviation Add. que l'on rencontre après l'année 1871 signifie que, dans cet annuaire, Fort William est inscrit dans un addenda. Occasionnellement, une année se présente comme suit: 1872+Add., ce qui signifie que le lieu est inscrit à la fois dans le corps de l'annuaire et dans un addenda.

both the main body of the directory and in an Addendum.

The second line indicates that Thunder Bay is listed as both Fort William and Prince Arthur's Landing in the Ontario provincial directory for 1882. Therefore, the user may need to look at both places in order to find a particular inhabitant. All the other lines in this entry follow the same pattern.

Years such as 1884/85 and 1886/87, which appear in the third line of directories in this entry, represent one volume which has been published for a two-year period. Generally these volumes were published in the earlier of the two years.

Occasionally a place will have two directories published for the same year. When both directories have been indexed, the letter "a" has been added to one of the years in both the index and the bibliography, for example, Victoria 1914, 1914a.

For the user who has first looked in the Ontario index under one of the older names, Fort William, Port Arthur or Prince Arthur's Landing, a see/voir reference to Thunder Bay has been provided, as for example:

Fort William
  see/voir THUNDER BAY

Another type of note which appears occasionally in the index entries, particularly for places in British Columbia, is one which begins, "listed under/apparaît sous". The following entry includes such a note:

Lorne Mine, (North Vancouver)
  British Columbia 1918-1926, 1929, 1930;
  British Columbia 1927, 1928 [listed under/apparaît sous Shalalth].

No directory has ever been published specifically for Lorne Mine; however, it is listed in a number of British Columbia provincial directories. In the British Columbia directories for 1918 to 1926, 1929 and 1930, Lorne Mine has its own listing. However, in the British Columbia directories for 1927 and 1928, the inhabitants of Lorne Mine are listed with the inhabitants of a different place, Shalalth. Users must therefore turn to Shalalth in those two directories.

Notes and see/voir references have also been provided for place names which have significant variant spellings in the directories, such as Wulffsohn Bay and Wolfson Bay, and for place names which appear in two La deuxième ligne indique que Thunder Bay est inscrit à la fois sous le nom de Fort William et de Prince Arthur's Landing dans l'annuaire provincial de l'Ontario de 1882. L'utilisateur devra peut-être chercher aux deux endroits pour trouver une personne en particulier. Les autres lignes de ce point d'accès suivent toutes le même modèle.

Les années 1884/85 et 1886/87, par exemple, que l'on trouve à la troisième ligne de ce point d'accès des annuaires, indiquent qu'un volume a été publié pour une période de deux ans. Généralement, ces volumes ont été publiés au cours de la première des deux années.

À l'occasion, on a publié deux annuaires d'un lieu pour la même année. Si on a indexé les deux annuaires, on a ajouté la lettre "a" à l'une des années dans l'index et dans la bibliographie; on trouve par exemple, Victoria 1914, 1914a.

Si l'utilisateur cherche d'abord dans l'index de l'Ontario aux anciens noms Fort William, Port Arthur ou Port Arthur's Landing, un renvoi see/voir le ramène à Thunder Bay, comme dans l'exemple suivant:

Fort William
  see/voir THUNDER BAY.

On rencontre à l'occasion, et particulièrement pour des lieux situés en Colombie-Britannique, cet autre genre de note dans les points d'accès des index "listed under/apparaît sous". Le point d'accès suivant comporte une telle note:

Lorne Mine, (North Vancouver)
  British Columbia 1918-1926, 1929, 1930;
  British Columbia 1927, 1928 [listed under/apparaît sous Shalalth].

Même si on n'a jamais publié d'annuaires expressément pour Lorne Mine, ce lieu apparaît dans plusieurs annuaires provinciaux de la Colombie-Britannique. Dans ces annuaires de 1918 à 1926, de 1929 et de 1930, Lorne Mine a sa propre inscription. Toutefois, dans les annuaires de la Colombie-Britannique de 1927 et de 1928, les habitants de Lorne Mine sont inscrits avec les habitants d'un autre endroit, Shalalth. Les utilisateurs doivent donc se reporter à Shalalth lorsqu'ils consultent ces deux annuaires.

On a aussi établi des notes et des renvois pour les noms de lieux dont l'orthographe varie grandement dans les annuaires, comme Wulffsohn Bay et Wolfson Bay, de même que pour les noms de lieux écrits en deux langues dans les annuaires, comme Trois-Rivières et Three Rivers par exemple.

Les localisations pour les annuaires de Thunder Bay, ou tout autre annuaire traitant de cette ville, sont incrites dans les languages in the directories, as for example, Three Rivers and Trois-Rivières.

Locations for Thunder Bay directories or for any other directories in which it appears, are listed in the entries in the bibliography. The following entry for Thunder Bay directories is fairly typical of most of the entries in the bibliography.

The description is based on the first volume listed, which either the National Library of Canada or the library of the National Archives of Canada holds. It provides the full title, publication information, pagination and information on any maps or illustrations other than advertisements included in the directory.

The symbol OONL next to a year indicates that the National Library of Canada holds a hard-copy edition of that directory. The symbol OOA appearing after a year indicates that the library of the National Archives of Canada holds a hard-copy edition of that directory. This entry indicates that both institutions hold hard copies of the 1913/14 Thunder Bay directory. However, only the National Library of Canada holds copies of the 1914/15, 1920, 1923 and 1925 directories. Occasionally a year will be listed with no locations after it. This means that a directory was published for that year but that neither the National Library of Canada nor the library of the National Archives of Canada holds it. This publication information is taken from Dorothy E. Ryder's Checklist of Canadian Directories 1790-1950. A volume number followed by notices de la bibliographie. La notice suivante concernant les annuaires de Thunder Bay est tout à fait typique de la plupart des notices de la bibliographie.

La description provient du premier volume inscrit que possèdent soit la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada, soit la bibliothèque des Archives nationales du Canada. Elle donne le titre complet, les renseignements sur la publication, la pagination et des renseignements sur les cartes et les illustrations, autres que les annonces publicitaires, contenues dans l'annuaire.

Le symbole OONL placé après une année indique que la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada possède une édition sur support papier de cet annuaire. Le symbole OOA apparaissant après une année indique que la bibliothèque des Archives nationales détient une édition sur support papier de cet annuaire. La notice dont il est question ici indique que les deux établissements détiennent des copies sur support papier de l'annuaire de Thunder Bay de 1913/14. Toutefois, la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada est seule à posséder des exemplaires des annuaires de 1914/15, 1920, 1923 et 1925. Parfois, une année est inscrite, mais elle n'est suivie d'aucune mention de lieu. Cela signifie qu'un annuaire a été publié cette année-là, mais que ni la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada, ni la bibliothèque des Archives nationales ne le détiennent. Ces renseignements concernant la publication sont tirés du Répertoire des annuaires canadiens, 1790-1950 de Dorothy E. Ryder. Un numéro de volume suivi d'un point d'interrogation signifie qu'on ne dispose d'aucun renseignement sur ce volume.

La cote que l'on trouve dans cette notice, F 5499 F6 A23 fol. Ref, signifie que les annuaires suivis du symbole OONL a question mark signifies that no information on that volume was available.

The call number included in this entry, F 5499 F6 A33 fol. Ref, indicates that the directories in this entry, followed by the symbol OONL, are located in the reference collection of the National Library of Canada. This is the most common location for the directories listed in this bibliography. A few directories are located in the National Library's Rare Book Room and have call numbers ending with the word Reserve, as for example: FC 2456.2 H8 Reserve.

The directories held by the library of the National Archives of Canada are for the most part uncatalogued and are therefore without call numbers. A very few have been catalogued and have call numbers beginning with the PAAP, Rare or Pamphlet, for example: PAAP FC 31 M5, Rare FC 3061 S5 and Pamphlet No. 1-2320.

Thunder Bay also appears in the Manitoba provincial directories for 1892 through 1898. The entry for those directories appears as follows:

This entry differs only in the inclusion of information on microform copies of the directories. The symbol OONL + mfc indicates that the National Library of Canada holds both a hard-copy original and a microfiche copy of these Manitoba directories. Microfiche copies are shelved in boxes under the same call number, F 5601.1 H4 Ref, as the original directories, in the National Library's reference collection. When a directory has been reproduced on microfilm rather than on microfiche, the symbol is OONL + mfm or OOA + mfm.

Quelques annuaires se trouvent dans la Salle des livres rares de la Bibliothèque nationale, leur cote se termine alors par le mot Reserve. On rencontre par exemple: FC 2456.2 H8 Reserve.

La plus grande partie des annuaires que détient la bibliothèque des Archives nationales du Canada n'est pas cataloguée et ne possède donc pas de cote. Les quelques annuaires qui ont été catalogués ont des cotes commençant par PAAP, Rare ou Pamphlet. On rencontre par exemple: PAAP FC 31 M5, Rare FC 3061 S5 et Pamphlet No. 1-2320.

Thunder Bay se trouve aussi dans les annuaires provinciaux du Manitoba de 1892 à 1898. La notice de ces annuaires se présente comme suit:

Le symbole OONL + mfc indique que la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada détient à la fois l'original sur support papier et une copie sur microfiche de ces annuaires du Manitoba. Les copies sur microfiche sont rangées sur les rayons dans des boîtes et ont la même cote, F 5601.1 H4 Ref, que les annuaires originaux placés dans la collection de référence de la Bibliothèque nationale. Si un annuaire a été reproduit sur microfilm plutôt que sur microfiche, on trouve le symbole OONL + mfm ou OOA + mfm.

When a microform copy of a directory was the only one available at the National Library of Canada and the library of the National Archives of Canada, a bibliographical entry such as this one for the 1894 Thunder Bay directory was created.

Canadian Directories

The earliest extant Canadian directories are those for the city of Québec compiled by Hugh MacKay. Directory for the City and Suburbs of Quebec, number I published in 1790 and number II published in 1791 are composed of an alphabetical list of the male inhabitants of the city who are over the age of sixteen. In his introduction to the 1791 directory, Hugh MacKay discussed the purpose of the compilation:

> The peace and security of society is in an eminent degree to be ascribed to a good police; and that police can hardly be carried into effect by the Judicial Power, unless a crowded City is arranged, so as to discriminate at one view its inhabitants and their occupations, to detect the receptacles of idleness and vice.[1]

The ordering and displaying of a society is a recurring idea in the history of directory publication, although generally with commercial rather than moral intent. E. Mallandaine, compiler and publisher of the First Victoria Directory in 1860, stated in his prefatory remarks, "the period has fully arrived when our fair town of Victoria is of sufficient importance to deserve

Quand la copie sur microforme d'un annuaire est la seule dont disposent la Bibliothèque nationale et la bibliothèque des Archives nationales, on a créé une notice comme celle-ci qui concerne l'annuaire de Thunder Bay de 1894:

La copie de la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada est conservée dans une boîte, placée sur les rayons sous la cote F 5499 F6 A23 Ref avec les autres annuaires de Thunder Bay.

Annuaires canadiens

Les premiers annuaires canadiens existants sont ceux de la ville de Québec, compilés par Hugh MacKay. Le premier numéro du Directory for the City and Suburbs of Quebec publié en 1790 et le deuxième numéro publié en 1791 renferment la liste alphabétique de tous les hommes de la ville âgés d'au moins seize ans. Dans son introduction à l'annuaire de 1791, Hugh MacKay parle du but de sa compilation:

> "La paix et la sécurité d'une société dépendent en grande partie d'une bonne surveillance policière et cette surveillance peut difficilement être exercée par le pouvoir judiciaire, si une ville populeuse n'est pas répertoriée de façon à ce qu'on puisse discerner d'un seul coup d'oeil ses habitants et leurs professions pour découvrir les réceptacles de l'oisiveté et du vice."[1] (Traduction)

L'idée de classement et de visualisation de la société revient souvent dans l'histoire de la publication des annuaires, bien que généralement dans un but plus commercial que moral. E. Mallandaine, compilateur et éditeur du First Victoria Directory en 1860, déclare dans ses remarques préliminaires que "le temps est pleinement venu pour notre belle ville de Victoria, en raison de son importance, de posséder son propre annuaire, signe de progrès commercial.[2] (Traduction) De nos jours, chaque annuaire, publié par R.L. Polk & Co. déclare that index of commercial progress, a Directory."[2] Today every directory published by R.L. Polk & Co. states in its introduction, "the Directory is a mirror truly reflecting [the city] to the world."

The directory was and is intended to facilitate communication between buyer and seller, to be a tool for advertising and marketing within a particular community and also to publicize that community and its advantages to a broader audience. Information included in many city directories on the occupations, addresses, status as tenant or homeowner and phone numbers of inhabitants is useful in marketing. Certain directories such as Bowers Metropolitan Toronto Systematic Directory also divide the city into trading zones and provide information on average family incomes and average values of homes. The classified business directory or buyer's guide, and the wealth of advertising contained in most directories are directed at the person looking for a particular product or service.

As a result of the availability of series of directories collected by libraries, such as the National Library of Canada, and other institutions, genealogists, historians and other researchers have found a variety of different uses for the directories. Genealogists are perhaps the most numerous and frequent directory users in their attempts to piece together family histories. Directories are often used to trace missing persons and birth parents. A person's approximate dates of arrival and departure from a locale and changes in occupation and address can be determined.

The street directories for the larger cities such as Toronto and Montréal can be useful in conjunction with another tool used frequently by genealogists, the census. The name of the ward in which a street is located is often mentioned in the street directory. The census returns for these large cities are divided by ward. The researcher who knows the name of the ward in which his or her family members lived, can greatly reduce the amount of time spent searching the census returns.

The social, political, commercial and physical development of a city, town or region is also revealed by a study of its directories for a period of years. The publishers of city directories generally attempted to include all male inhabitants over the age of eighteen and an examination of their occupations reveals coverage of all levels of society. The Toronto directory for 1885, for example, lists clerks, carpenters, labourers, solicitors, barristers, teachers, grooms, blacksmiths, dans son introduction que "l'annuaire est un miroir qui transmet au monde un fidèle reflet de la ville." (Traduction)

Depuis toujours, l'annuaire vise à faciliter la communication entre l'acheteur et le vendeur, à servir d'outil de publicité et de commercialisation au sein d'une collectivité et à faire connaître cette collectivité et ses avantages à un public plus vaste. Les renseignements contenus dans de nombreux annuaires sur la profession, l'adresse, le statut de locataire ou de propriétaire et le numéro de téléphone des habitants sont utiles pour la commercialisation. Certains annuaires comme le Bowers Metropolitan Toronto Systematic Directory partagent aussi la ville en secteurs commerciaux et fournissent des renseignements sur le revenu moyen des familles et la valeur moyenne des maisons. L'annuaire systématique des entreprises ou le guide de l'acheteur, et l'abondance d'annonces publicitaires contenues dans la plupart des annuaires s'adressent aux personnes qui cherchent un produit ou un service particulier.

La disponibilité des collections d'annuaires rassemblées par des bibliothèques comme la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada et d'autres établissements a permis aux généalogistes, aux historiens et autres chercheurs d'utiliser les annuaires de nombreuses et diverses façons. Avides de reconstituer l'histoire des familles, les généalogistes sont peut-être les utilisateurs les plus nombreux et les plus assidus des annuaires. Les annuaires servent souvent à retracer les personnes manquantes et les parents naturels. Ils permettent de déterminer les dates approximatives d'arrivée et de départ d'une personne, ses changements de profession et d'adresse dans une localité.

Les guides des rues, établis pour les grandes villes comme Toronto et Montréal, peuvent être utiles quand ils sont employés conjointement avec le recensement, autre outil souvent utilisé par les généalogistes. Le guide des rues mentionne souvent le nom de la circonscription électorale dans laquelle se trouve une rue. Or, les relevés de recensement de ces grandes villes sont divisés par circonscription électorale. Le chercheur qui connaît le nom de la circonscription électorale où vivaient les membres de sa famille peut donc économiser beaucoup de temps lors de son étude des recensements.

On découvre aussi l'évolution sociale, économique et physique d'une ville ou d'une région en étudiant les annuaires parus à leur sujet au cours des années. Les éditeurs d'annuaires de villes ont généralement essayé d'y inclure le nom de tous les hommes d'au moins dix-huit ans et l'examen de leurs professions fournit un aperçu de tous les niveaux de la société. L'annuaire de Toronto de 1885, par exemple, énumère des commis, charpentiers, manoeuvres, avocats, procureurs, instituteurs, palefreniers, forgerons, pompiers, firemen, engineers, waiters, tailors, pedlars and waggon makers.

Provincial directories, sources of information on the inhabitants of smaller towns and villages, generally provide shorter listings of business and professional persons. The village of East Templeton is listed in Lovell's Province of Quebec Directory for 1871 as having a population of 175, however, only 26 names appear.

Indian villages are listed in some of the provincial directories, however, the number of native persons listed are few if any. St. Regis, an Iroquois village listed in Lovell's Province of Quebec Directory for 1871, is one of the few entries which actually lists a number of Iroquois leaders as well as the missionary, the Indian agent and the postmaster.

As directories are generally a product of urban, commercial development, the inhabitants of rural areas are the least well covered by them. A number of directories were published for Ontario counties, mainly for the years between 1870 and 1910, which provide listings of the farmers in each township, their status as tenant or freehold, the concession and lot number of their properties and the nearest post office. Also included in these directories are short listings of the business people inhabiting the towns and villages within the counties. For provinces other than Ontario, county directories are few in number.

Women were seldom included -- only single, working women and widows -- in the directories of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. In the preface to his 1901 Hamilton directory, Henry Vernon stated:

> In the Alphabetical, the names and addresses and occupations of the ladies are now inserted for the first time. It is true one will look in vain for the names of message boys, or that of the daughter of the house, who naturally shrinks from the unwarranted publicity (in her case) that a directory gives...[3]

More recently, married women have been listed in entries with their husbands and current directories often list them as separate entries in the alphabetical sequence.

A.B. Cherrier, compiler of the directories for the city of Québec in the 1880s, discreetly noted the following exclusion from his directory: "Names of residents in houses of ill-fame are not inscribed in the Street Key, ingénieurs, serveurs, tailleurs, colporteurs et fabricants de chariots.

Les annuaires provinciaux, qui sont une source de renseignements sur les habitants des petites villes et des villages, fournissent en général des listes plus courtes des gens d'affaires et des membres des professions libérales. Le Lovell's Province of Quebec Directory for 1871 attribue une population de 175 habitants au village de East Templeton, mais 26 noms seulement figurent sur la liste.

Quelques annuaires provinciaux mentionnent les villages indiens; toutefois le nombre d'autochtones inscrits est fort peu élevé. Le village iroquois de Saint-Régis cité dans le Lovell's Province of Quebec Directory for 1871, est une des rares notices qui énumère plusieurs chefs indiens de même que le missionnaire, l'officier indien et le receveur des postes.

Comme les annuaires résultent généralement du développement urbain et commercial, ils portent moins attention aux habitants des régions rurales. Plusieurs annuaires publiés pour les comtés de l'Ontario, particulièrement entre les années 1870 et 1910, fournissent la liste des cultivateurs de chaque canton, précisent s'ils sont locataires ou en franche tenure, indiquent la concession et le numéro du lot où se trouvent leurs propriétés, ainsi que l'emplacement du bureau de poste le plus proche. On y trouve également de courtes listes de gens d'affaires habitant les villes et villages des comtés. Il existe peu d'annuaires de comté dans les provinces autres que l'Ontario.

Dans les annuaires du XIX^{e} siècle et du début du XX^{e} siècle, les femmes sont rarement présentes, à l'exception des femmes célibataires, des femmes occupant un emploi et des veuves. Dans la préface de son annuaire de Hamilton de 1901, Henry Vernon écrit:

> "Dans l'annuaire alphabétique, les noms, adresses et professions des femmes sont maintenant inscrits pour la première fois. C'est vrai qu'on cherchera en vain le nom des garçons de courses ou le nom de la fille de la maison qui cherche naturellement à éviter la publicité non désirée que donne l'annuaire..."3

Plus récemment, on inscrit les femmes mariées avec les points d'accès relatifs à leurs maris, et les annuaires actuels leurs consacrent souvent des points d'accès distincts classés par ordre alphabétique.

A.B. Chevrier, compilateur des annuaires de la ville de Québec dans les années 1880, fait remarquer discrètement la caractéristique suivante de son annuaire: "Les noms des résidents de maisons mal famées ne sont pas inscrits dans le guide des rues, on ne les trouvera donc pas dans l'annuaire alphabétique."[4] (Traduction) and as a consequence will not be found in the Alphabetical Directory."[4]

The miscellaneous and gazetteer information included in many directories can also be of great use in the study of a developing town, city or region. The civic and provincial directories of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries include large quantities of varied information on municipal, provincial and federal levels of government. Lists of institutions such as post offices, churches, courts, banks, hospitals and schools are also included, along with lists of benevolent, literary and scientific societies, associations, social clubs, military personnel and periodicals and newspapers published at the time. A certain amount of demographical and agricultural statistics are also to be found in the directories.

Some directories contain fairly lengthy historical descriptions of the places which they cover. Many include descriptions of local industries and resources which with the classified business directory can be used to examine the development of a particular industry or profession.

Hunter, Rose & Co.'s City of Ottawa Directory for 1870-71 is an excellent example of the fascinating detail which the researcher can find in a directory. The following passage acts as both a description and an advertisement for the Ottawa Tannery:

> The buildings are above 2 1/2 stories high, 30 feet by 120 feet, and are situated on St. Paul street, near Canal Basin. An addition has lately been made to the establishment of a frame building, two stories high, 60 feet long and twenty feet wide, in which there is a twenty-horse power steam engine, with boiler and leach room, containing two large leaches on the ground floor; the second story is occupied as a bark mill and heating room. Mr. Woodland employs about ten hands, and turns out about six thousand sides of finished leather per annum. He also deals in sole leathers, French calfs, hides, sheepskins, oils, roans and morocco leather.[5]

The gazetteer entries for certain villages near Ottawa, also listed in this directory, are often informative and interesting. Architecture and transportation were highlighted in the entry for Aylmer:

> The public buildings are of stone, substantially built and cost ten thousand pounds.... One of the first class steamers of the Union Forwarding Company leaves daily for Pontiac, connecting with the steamers for Pembroke[,] Des Joachim and inter-

Les divers renseignements et les répertoires géographiques inclus dans de nombreux annuaires peuvent aussi se révéler très précieux pour l'étude du développement d'une ville ou d'une région. Les annuaires municipaux et provinciaux du XIX^e siècle et du début du XXe siècle renferment une grande quantité de renseignements divers sur les administrations municipale, provinciale et fédérale. On y trouve aussi des listes d'établissements comme les bureaux de poste, les églises, les tribunaux, les banques, les hôpitaux et les écoles, ainsi que des listes de bénévoles, de sociétés littéraires et scientifiques, d'associations, de cercles philanthropiques, de personnel militaire, de périodiques et de journaux publiés à l'époque. On peut aussi y lire un certain nombre de statistiques concernant la démographie et l'agriculture.

Certains annuaires comportent d'assez longues descriptions historiques des lieux qu'ils touchent. Plusieurs décrivent les industries et les ressources locales et on peut utiliser ces descriptions conjointement avec l'annuaire systématique des entreprises pour étudier le développement d'une industrie ou d'une profession.

Hunter, Rose & Co.'s City of Ottawa Directory for 1870-71 montre très bien les détails fascinants qu'un chercheur peut trouver dans un annuaire. L'extrait suivant sert à la fois de description et de publicité concernant la tannerie d'Ottawa:

> "Les bâtiments ont plus de deux étages et demi de hauteur, 30 pieds de large sur 120 pieds de long et sont situés sur la rue Saint-Paul près du Canal Basin. On a récemment ajouté à cet établissement un bâtiment à charpente de deux étages, mesurant 60 pieds sur 20, où se trouvent, au rez-de-chaussée, un moteur à vapeur de vingt chevaux, avec chaudière et salle de lessivage contenant deux grandes fosses à jusée; le deuxième étage sert d'atelier de tannage et de salle de chauffage. M. Woodland emploie environ dix personnes et produit environ six mille pans de cuir apprêtés chaque année. Il traite aussi les cuirs pour semelles, les cuirs de veau, les peaux de mouton entre autres, les huiles, les basanes et les maroquins."[5] (Traduction)

Les points d'accès des répertoires géographiques concernant certains villages proches d'Ottawa, aussi inscrits dans cet annuaire, sont souvent instructifs et intéressants. La rubrique Aylmer met l'accent sur l'architecture et le transport:

> "Les édifices publics sont de pierre, solidement construits et coûtent dix mille livres... Un des bateaux à vapeur de première classe de la Union Forwarding Company part chaque jour à destination de Pontiac et assure la liaison avec les bateaux à destination de Pembroke [,] Des Joachim et d'escales intermédiaires. Des diligences partent chaque jour d'Ottawa à destination d'Aylmer."[6] (Traduction)

> mediate points. Stages leave Ottawa for Aylmer daily.[6]

The entry for Richmond discussed the naming of that village:

> It is called after the Duke of Richmond, who died here in 1819 from the effects of a bite received from an animal which he was endeavoring to tame.[7]

The directories of the mid to late twentieth century are published by only a few major publishers and are generally more uniform in style and contents. They provide less of the type of miscellaneous information described above, however, still include lists of civic, provincial and federal officials and brief descriptions of the commercial, industrial, social and natural advantages of a city or region.

Common to all directories is an abundance of advertisements which appear on the cover, spine and edges, in groups at the beginning and end, and in between and beside columns on pages. They range in style from single lines such as "For something nice in clothing call on J.W. Clemens, Kranz's Old Stand"[8] which is repeated on numerous pages of the 1893 Berlin directory, to those in the style of business cards with elegant borders and a variety of type faces as in MacKay's Montréal directories of the 1840s. Others are more elaborate in their use of illustrations. Printers' advertisements are particularly detailed as they attempt to display a multitude of type faces, borders and ornaments available to potential customers.

The advertisements are a source of valuable information about the services, products (such as clothing, machinery, medicines and food stuffs), and entertainments available to a society. Most directories provide an index to advertisers.

Photographs, illustrations and maps are also included in many directories. The Toronto city directories of the 1920s, for example, contain many photographs of city buildings. The Montréal blue books published by Dau Publishing, provide plans of a number of Montréal theaters and concert halls.

The practice of publishing directories on an annual basis was not established in Canada until the 1840s with the publication of Montréal directories by John Lovell and Robert W. Stewart MacKay. Between 1790 and 1840 directory publication was infrequent. After the 1791 edition, the next Québec city directory did not appear until 1822. Like the Montréal directories, those for Québec were not published on a regular basis until

Sous la rubrique Richmond, on s'interroge sur le nom de ce village:

> "Il tire son nom du duc de Richmond mort ici en 1819 à la suite de la morsure d'un animal qu'il essayait d'apprivoiser."[7] (Traduction)

À compter du milieu du XX^{e} siècle, les annuaires publiés par quelques grands éditeurs seulement, sont généralement d'un style et d'un contenu plus uniformes. Ils présentent moins ce genre de renseignements variés dont on a parlé plus haut, mais ils renferment encore des listes des représentants municipaux, provinciaux et fédéraux, de même que de brèves descriptions des avantages commerciaux, industriels, sociaux et naturels de la ville ou de la région.

Tous les annuaires ont en commun une abondance d'annonces publicitaires apparaissant sur la couverture, au dos et sur les tranches, groupées au début et à la fin de l'ouvrage et placées sur les pages entre les colonnes et à côté de celles-ci. La présentation de ces annonces varie: certaines ont une seule ligne comme par exemple "Si vous cherchez de beaux vêtements, venez chez J.W. Clemens, à l'ancienne boutique Kranz" (Traduction), répétée sur de nombreuses pages de l'annuaire de Berlin de 1893, tandis que d'autres revêtent la forme de cartes d'affaires aux bordures élégantes et aux caractères fort variés, comme dans les annuaires de Montréal publiés par MacKay dans les années 1840. D'autres utilisent des illustrations plus élaborées. Les annonces des imprimeurs sont particulièrement détaillées car elles tentent de présenter une multitude de caractères, de bordures et d'ornements mis à la disposition des clients éventuels.

Les annonces publicitaires demeurent une source précieuse de renseignements sur les services, les produits (vêtements, machines, médicaments et alimentation) et les divertissements mis à la disposition d'une société. La plupart des annuaires fournissent un index des annonceurs.

De nombreux annuaires contiennent aussi des photographies, des illustrations et des cartes. Les annuaires de la ville de Toronto des années 1920, par exemple, renferment plusieurs photographies d'édifices de la ville. Les livres bleus de Montréal publiés par Dau Publishing présentent les plans d'un certain nombre de théâtres et de salles de concert de la ville.

La coutume de publier des annuaires chaque année ne s'est établie au Canada que vers les années 1840 avec la publication des annuaires de Montréal par John Lovell et Robert W. Stewart MacKay. De 1790 à 1840, la publication des annuaires était peu fréquente. Après l'édition de 1791, il a fallu attendre jusqu'en 1822 la parution de l'annuaire suivant de la ville de Québec. Tout comme à Montréal, les annuaires de Québec n'ont pas paru de façon régulière avant le milieu des the mid 1840s. Dorothy E. Ryder noted in her introduction to the Checklist of Canadian Directories, 1790-1950 that the 1790 and 1791 Québec directories were commissioned by the Legislative Council as part of a census project. However, when the demand for the 1791 edition was insufficient to pay for the paper, the directory was discontinued. Throughout their history, directories have only been published as long as they were profitable.

The earliest Montréal directory appeared in 1819 to be followed by only a few in the 1820s and 1830s. Toronto city directories were first published by George Walton in 1833 and 1837 but were not published regularly until the 1860s. Directories for eastern cities such as Halifax and Saint John were first published on an annual basis in the 1870s. Among the western city directories, the Winnipeg directory became annual in the 1880s, Calgary and Edmonton directories in 1906, and Victoria and Vancouver directories in the 1890s.

Provincial directories were published less frequently than the city directories and unfortunately were generally limited to the second half of the nineteenth century and the early twentieth century. The earliest of this type of directory is the Province of Canada Directory for 1851, which lists cities and towns in what would become the provinces of Ontario and Québec. British Columbia provincial directories were exceptional in appearing fairly regularly between the years 1880 and 1948.

An examination of the early directories for the larger cities often reveals numerous publishers competing for the directory market. These publishers were often printers, stationers or publishers of newspapers. Between the years 1861 and 1891 ten publishers produced Ottawa city directories before Might Directories dominated the market. The competition between publishers is revealed in a notice to the public printed by W.H. Irwin in his City of Hamilton Directory for 1888/89. In it he discussed the merits of his Hamilton directory over the Hamilton directory of his rival R.L. Polk & Co. of Detroit, and asks,

> Supposing any Canadian undertook to publish a Directory of the city of Detroit, the headquarters and residence of Messrs. R.L. Polk & Co., what would be the chance of success? Would he not soon hear there was sufficient intelligence, patriotism and encouragement for home industry without the interference of CANADIANS and FOREIGNERS?[9] années 1840. Dans son introduction du Répertoire des annuaires canadiens, 1790-1950, Dorothy E. Ryder rappelle que les annuaires de Québec de 1790 et 1791 avaient été commandés par le Conseil législatif dans le cadre d'un projet de recensement. Toutefois, comme la demande de l'édition de 1791 ne suffisait pas à payer le papier, on a cessé la publication de l'annuaire. Tout au long de leur histoire, les annuaires n'ont été publiés que dans la mesure où ils étaient rentables.

C'est en 1819 qu'a paru le premier annuaire de Montréal suivi de quelques numéros seulement au cours des années 1820 et 1830. Les premiers annuaires de la ville de Toronto ont d'abord été publiés en 1833 et 1837 par George Walton, mais ils n'ont pas paru de façon régulière avant les années 1860. Les annuaires des villes de l'est du pays comme Halifax et Saint-Jean ont commencé à paraître tous les ans dans les années 1870. Dans l'Ouest, l'annuaire de Winnipeg est devenu annuel dans les années 1880; ceux de Calgary et d'Edmonton le sont devenus en 1906 et ceux de Victoria et de Vancouver dans les années 1890.

Les annuaires des provinces ont été publiés moins fréquemment que ceux des villes et, en général, ils se sont malheureusement limités à la seconde moitié du XIXe siècle et au début du XXe siècle. Le plus ancien annuaire de ce genre est le Province of Canada Directory for 1851, qui établit la liste des villes et municipalités des futures provinces de Québec et d'Ontario. Les annuaires de la Colombie-Britannique demeurent l'exception puisqu'ils ont paru assez régulièrement entre 1880 et 1948.

L'étude des anciens annuaires des grandes villes révèle souvent que de nombreux éditeurs se sont disputés le marché des annuaires. Ces éditeurs étaient souvent des imprimeurs, des papetiers ou des éditeurs de journaux. De 1861 à 1891, dix éditeurs ont publié les annuaires de la ville d'Ottawa avant que Might Directories ne domine le marché. Dans l'avis qu'il adresse au public dans son City of Hamilton Directory de 1888 et 1889, W.H. Irwin montre bien la concurrence qui existe entre les éditeurs. Dans cet avis, il expose la supériorité de son annuaire de Hamilton sur celui de son concurrent R.L. Polk & Co. de Détroit, et il demande:

> "Si un Canadien entreprenait la publication d'un annuaire de la ville de Détroit, siège social et résidence de Messieurs R.L. Polk & Co., quelles seraient ses chances de réussite? N'entendrait-il pas dire très vite qu'il y a suffisamment d'intelligence, de patriotisme et d'encouragement à l'échelle locale sans l'interférence de CANADIENS et d'ÉTRANGERS?"[9] (Traduction)

Today, Canadian directories are published by only a few publishers, of which R.L. Polk & Co. and its three divisions, Might Directories, Henderson Directories and B.C. Directories, are dominant. Vernon Directories and Lovell Litho and Publications are also significant Canadian directory publishers.

Most directory publishers past and present have used the same method of information gathering in compiling their directories, the door to door canvass. Information is given on a voluntary basis to a canvasser or if the resident is not at home, an information slip is left which the resident may or may not choose to fill in and return to the publisher. Canvassers are often individuals randomly hired by the publisher, although in the case of the 1918 Fredericton directory, the publisher noted that "the Daughters of the Empire ... took complete charge of the canvas."[10]

The use of the door to door canvass results in a number of problems with the directories, such as lack of comprehensiveness and inaccuracy, as many of the publishers state in their prefaces. McAlpine, Everett & Co., publisher of the Ottawa and Kingston directory for 1875, stated that canvassers fearing smallpox refused to visit certain houses. A.S. Woodburn, publisher of another Ottawa directory for 1875, noted that > difficulty is still experienced in some parts of the city, in obtaining the necessary information, many persons believing that the names were required for either military enrolment, or the addition of some local, or obnoxious water rate. Omissions may have been occasioned in this way; and as changes are constantly taking place by removals and otherwise, between the time of canvas and publication, absolute accuracy cannot be expected.[11]

The spelling of names is also a problem for canvassers and an examination of any series of directories reveals many variants of any name. Added to this are errors in alphabetization and many typographical errors, probably as a result of the speed with which the directories are produced. Nineteenth century directory publishers stated that the canvass, compilation and binding of a directory took from six to eight weeks. Today the production of a directory for a city the size of Ottawa can require six to eight months.

Users of the directories are expected to subscribe to the directory on an annual basis. A subscription to Cherrier's Québec city directory was three dollars in 1880. Today the subscriber to Might's Toronto directory can lease it for $230. The directory is normally

De nos jours, il ne reste que quelques éditeurs d'annuaires canadiens, dominés par R.L. Polk & Co. et ses trois divisions, Might Directories, Henderson Directories et B.C. Directories. Vernon Directories et Lovell Litho and Publications sont aussi d'importants éditeurs d'annuaires canadiens.

La plupart des éditeurs, anciens et actuels, ont employé la même méthode pour recueillir les renseignements nécessaires à leurs annuaires, à savoir la sollicitation porte à porte. L'information est fournie de plein gré à la personne qui se présente à la porte et lorsqu'il n'y a personne à la maison, le solliciteur laisse un feuillet de renseignements que le résidant est libre de remplir et de retourner à l'éditeur. Les solliciteurs sont souvent des personnes embauchées au hasard par l'éditeur; toutefois pour l'annuaire de Fredericton de 1918, l'éditeur souligne que "les filles de l'Empire ... se sont entièrement chargées de la sollicitation."[10] (Traduction)

Dans le domaine des annuaires, la sollicitation porte à porte a créé de nombreux problèmes tels que le manque de détails et d'exactitude, comme le font remarquer plusieurs éditeurs dans leurs préfaces. McAlpine, Everett & Co., éditeur de l'annuaire d'Ottawa et de Kingston de 1875, écrit que les solliciteurs, de crainte de la variole, ont refusé d'entrer dans certaines maisons. A.S. Woodburn, éditeur d'un autre annuaire d'Ottawa de 1875, écrit ceci:

> "Dans certains secteurs de la ville, on rencontre encore quelque difficulté à obtenir les renseignements nécessaires parce que bien des personnes pensent qu'on demande les noms soit pour le service militaire, soit pour l'ajout de quelque redevance locale ou d'une odieuse taxe sur l'eau. Des omissions ont pu en résulter et comme il y a sans cesse des changements entre le moment de la sollicitation et la publication de l'annuaire, en raison notamment des déménagements, on ne peut pas s'attendre à une exactitude absolue."[11] (Traduction)

L'orthographe des noms représente aussi un problème pour les solliciteurs et lorsqu'on examine les séries d'annuaires, on se rend compte des nombreuses variantes des noms. À ceci s'ajoutent des fautes d'orthographe et de nombreuses erreurs typographiques causées probablement par la rapidité de production des annuaires. Les éditeurs d'annuaires du XIX^{e} siècle affirment que la sollicitation, la compilation et la reliure d'un annuaire peut demander de six à huit semaines. Aujourd'hui la production d'un annuaire d'une ville de l'importance d'Ottawa peut prendre de six à huit mois.

Les utilisateurs sont censés s'abonner chaque année à l'annuaire. En 1880, l'abonnement à l'annuaire Cherrier de la ville de Québec coûtait trois dollars. Aujourd'hui, un abonné à l'annuaire Might de Toronto peut louer celui-ci pour 230 $. Normalement, il doit retourner l'annuaire à returned to the publisher at the end of the year, at which time the subscriber can lease a new directory.

Because the directories are only intended to be used for a determinate length of time, the quality of paper binding is often poor and deterioration is rapid with heavy use. Institutions such as the National Library of Canada which maintain retrospective directory collections are attempting to deal with this conservation problem, by the deacidification, lamination and rebinding of directories, and through microreproduction projects such as the one being undertaken at present by the Canadian Institute for Historical Microreproductions. In this way, they hope to preserve the directories for future researchers.

l'éditeur à la fin de l'année, et il peut alors en louer un nouveau.

Destinés à une utilisation d'assez courte durée, les annuaires ont une reliure en papier de qualité souvent médiocre et ils se détériorent rapidement si on les utilise beaucoup. Les établissements qui, comme la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada, conservent des collections d'anciens annuaires, tentent de surmonter ce problème de conservation en désacidifiant, en laminant et en reliant à nouveau les annuaires, et ont aussi recours à des projets de microreproduction comme celui qu'entreprend actuellement l'Institut canadien de microreproductions historiques. De cette façon, on espère conserver les annuaires pour les futurs chercheurs.

PROVINCE OF CANADA / LA PROVINCE DU CANADA

The Province of Canada (1841-1867) consisted of Upper Canada (Canada West) and Lower Canada (Canada East). At Confederation in 1867, Upper Canada became the Province of Ontario and Lower Canada, the Province of Quebec.

La Province du Canada (1841-1867) fut formée par l'union du Haut et du Bas-Canada (Canada West et Canada East). Lors de l'avènement de la Confédération en 1867 le Haut-Canada devint la province d'Ontario et le Bas-Canada, la province de Québec.

Prior to 1905, Alberta was a district in the area known as the Northwest Territories. Places in Alberta which appear in the Manitoba provincial directories published prior to 1905, are often listed in a separate alphabetical sequence under the heading, "Northwest Territories".

Avant 1905, l'Alberta constituait un district dans la région connue sous le nom de Territoires du Nord-Ouest. Des endroits en Alberta qui apparaissent dans les annuaires provinciaux du Manitoba publiés avant 1905, sont souvent répertoriés dans l'ordre alphabétique sous la vedette, "Territoires du Nord-Ouest".

ROBINSON CRUSOE
was one of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success

HE believed in advertising . . . . . he knew what he wanted . . . a ship, and he put up an advertisement for one. He hung a shirt on a pole in a conspicuous place on his island . . . a place where it would be seen by any ship which sailed near

The circulation was small and there was no other medium; but Crusoe kept his flag flying even though one garment after another wore out In the end he got what he wanted.

Crusoe advertised under discouraging circumstances, but had he taken down that signal after a year — where would he and his story be?

If you want success put your signal up and keep it flying. You have a thousand chances of success to his one. You can reach ALL the people all the time through

Prior to 1905, Saskatchewan was a district in the area known as the Northwest Territories. Places in Saskatchewan which appear in the Manitoba provincial directories published prior to 1905, are often listed in a separate alphabetical sequence under the heading, "Northwest Territories".

Avant 1905, la Saskatchewan constituait un district dans la région connue sous le nom de Territoires du Nord-Ouest. Des endroits en Saskatchewan qui apparaissent dans les annuaires provinciaux du Manitoba publiés avant 1905, sont souvent répertoriés séparément dans l'ordre alphabétique sous la vedette, "Territoires du Nord-Ouest."
